

Political Economy Lunch Seminar | Spring 2024

Hertie School, Berlin, Friedrichstraße 180

1 February	Juan Vargas, University of Turin Fear to Vote: Explosions, Salience, and Elections
15 February	Oguzhan Türkoglu, Hertie School Discussing The Migration of Favorable Minority Groups Has Positive Effects on Majority Group Attitudes
29 February	Michael Bechtel, University of Cologne International Redistribution and Natural Disasters
4 April	Roman Senninger, Aarhus University How Does Evidence Affect Legislative Outcomes?
18 April	PELS talk by Oliver Christ (FernUniversität Hagen)
25 April	PELS talk by Ruth Ditlmann (Hertie School)
2 May	Virginia Minni, Institute for Fiscal Studies Making the invisible hand visible: Managers and the allocation of workers to jobs
3 May	Zachary Steinert-Threlkeld, University of California Improving Computer Vision Interpretability: Transparent Two-level Classification for Complex Scenes
30 May	Kim Woojin, UC Berkeley "Don't you plan on voting?" The motives and effects of peer pressure in voter mobilization
Times and location	Thursdays, 12.30-13.30h CET → On-site: Hertie School, Friedrichstr. 180, 10117 Berlin. Registration required!

Contact

Organisation: tripodi@hertie-school.org

Sign-up for mailing list: dudniak@hertie-school.org

